Accounting for Performance & Bodies in Transnational Religion

Aesthetics and Goddesses Who Do Not Migrate: What is Left Behind Shapes What is Here

12 Noon Workshop

Joyce Burkhalter Flueckiger is Professor in the Department of Religion, Emory University. Growing up in India, she received her Ph.D. in South Asian Language and Literature from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Professor Flueckiger specializes in performance studies, with a particular interest in gender and has carried out extensive fieldwork in India. She is the author of In Amma’s Healing Room: Gender & Vernacular Islam in South India (Indiana University Press: 2006); Gender and Genre in the Folklore of Middle India (Cornell: 1996); and the co-editor of and contributor to Oral Epics in India (1986) and Boundaries of the Text: Epic Performances in South and Southeast Asia (1991). She has published numerous articles on South Asian folklore and is currently writing a book titled When the World Becomes Female: The Gangamma Goddess Tradition of South India. 