

4 MARCH 2010

PUBLIC LECTURE

Speaking the Same Language: The Bengali Muslims & Hindus Who Venerate Bonbibi of the Sundarbans

4:30 PM, Ustler Hall

Sponsored by the Center for the Humanities and the Public Sphere with support from the Jerome A. Yavitz Fund, the Department of Religion, the Center for the Study of Hindu Traditions (CHiTra), and the Center for Women's Studies and Gender Research.

GRADUATE STUDENT & FACULTY SEMINAR

Marking the Presence of Bonbibi

1:45 PM, 117 Anderson Hall

SUFIA M. UDDIN

is Associate Professor of religious studies at Connecticut College. Her work explores religious spaces of convergence among Muslims and Hindus in West Bengal and Bangladesh, on the edge of the Sundarbans, focusing specifically on the veneration of Bonbibi.

UF UNIVERSITY of FLORIDA